Distinctive Features of the Course:

The programme combines the broad skills development of the business management subject with the detailed theoretical and analytical skills of required of Accounting. This course is designed to obtain a exemption from CIMA and ACCA bodies' professional examinations, and therefore give you a fast track towards becoming a professional accountant. The course is also designed to make you attractive to prospective employers through the development of practical skills, the ability to problem solve, work in groups, research and use research methods and work independently

This programme not only provides a strong accounting background but also provides a knowledge and understanding of a wide range of other subjects which enable students to pursue a wide range of management roles in business.

You can develop the skills and knowledge that you need to study at undergraduate level, building on your strengths and working on your weaknesses, so that you can feel confident that by the end you are ready to commence a degree course, and to apply the skills to undertake the directed and independent learning which will help you to achieve your potential. This will allow you to embark on Level 4 study in an appropriate undergraduate discipline or combined award, confident that you have developed the skills and chosen the most relevant subject area(s) to specialise in, which will allow you to perform strongly at degree level and enhance your career aims.

Educational Aims of the Course:

The Foundation Year will introduce you to studying at university. You will develop your academic and study skills alongside studying modules that introduce you to the disciplines offered by courses across the Faculty.

The Foundation Year will therefore provide a springboard for successful study at levels 4, 5 and 6.

The BA (Hons) Business and Accounting course aims to provide students with knowledge and understanding of business and accounting methods and their strategic applications to organisations operating within a highly digitised and changing global environment. Through the use of a wide range of concepts, approaches, research techniques and e-learning forums the course intends to equip students with a range of personal and intellectual skills in preparation for a career in accounting, finance, banking and general management fields.

The course will provide students with opportunities to advance their ICT skills through the use of applications software, accounting packages and other technologies. The diversity of topical areas covered in the study programme will allow students to develop their own understandings of global citizenship applicable to their local, national and international communities.

Once completing this degree, students would have qualifications which would be suitable for a wide range of business careers other than in accountancy, areas such as general management, banking and finance. Specifically the course will create business managers who have an in depth knowledge of accounting techniques which should be valuable both in general management and within the financial and accountancy services sector. Successful students would expect to be suitably qualified to develop careers in a range of areas including general management, accountancy, banking and finance. The exemptions gained from the professional accountancy bodies mean that students will have a head start in developing a career in accountancy.

The degree can also be used as the basis for postgraduate study in the area of finance and general business management, for example the Business School has an MSc in Finance and Accounting which dovetails in with the knowledge and skills obtained on this programme.

Teaching, Learning and Assessment:

The students' knowledge of business concepts and accounting techniques is developed throughout all three years of the programme. The programme as a whole will provide the students' with opportunities to develop skills relevant to the first graduate attribute identified under 'A Curriculum of Opportunity'.

Skills relating to research methods and analytical techniques are initially developed at Level 4 in the modules 4AC011 Professional Skills for Accountants and 4HR018 Organisational Structures for Effective Management. The skills are used across the Level 5 modules, but are specifically deepened and widened in 5IB004 Economics of Managerial Decision-making and 5AC003 Management Accounting. The final stage in developments of research skills will occur at Level 6 as part of the module 6BU011 Business Research Methods. The students will be able to demonstrate their research and analytical skills during the third year of the programme, specifically in the project/dissertation/case study module 6BU013 Independent Project. The modules discussed above will give the students opportunities to develop skills in relation to the second graduate attribute identified under 'A Curriculum of Opportunity'.

Interactive lectures, seminars and workshops will be used during face-to-face sessions to enhance learning and build up a peer support network that will provide additional support when collaborating online. VLE forums will be used for online collaboration where appropriate.

The course's modules employ a variety of assessment methods, including report writing, time-constrained assignments, presentations, in-class tests, portfolios, essays, and an independent study project. All assessments will be conducted according to the University Assessment Policies and Procedures. Procedures for submission and feedback will be made available for all assessment and communicated to students electronically via the VLE. Below is an indicative list of assessment types:

- Writing reports and essays to show breadth and depth of understanding
- Case study analysis
- Making presentations, both individual and group
- Multi-choice tests
- Dissertations / Projects
- Time-constrained assignments
- Portfolios and learning log/journals
- Assessed group activity (including peer appraisal)

Assessment Methods:

At the University of Wolverhampton, a variety of modes of assessment will be used to support and test your learning and progress and to help you develop capabilities that are valued beyond your University studies and into your working life. Your course may include a variety of assessment activities:

Written examinations (including online examinations, open and closed book examinations and quizzes)
Coursework (for example, essays, reports, portfolios, project proposals and briefs, CVs, poster presentation)
Practical (for example, oral and video presentations, laboratory work, performances, practical skills assessment)

In the final year of your undergraduate degree, and at the end of your postgraduate degree, you are likely to be expected to write an extended piece of work or research, such as a dissertation or a practice-based piece of research.

Student Support:

General University support

University Learning Centres are the key source of academic information for students. Learning Centres provide physical library resources (books, journal, DVDs etc.) and offer a range of study areas to allow students to study in the environment that suit them best: Social areas, quiet and silent areas. Learning Centres also provide access to wide range of online information sources, including eBooks, e-Journals and subject databases.

Learning Centres also provide students with academic skills support via the Skills for Learning programme. Students on campus can attend workshops or ask for one-to-one help on a range of skills such as academic writing and referencing. Students can access a range of online skills material at: www.wlv.ac.uk/lib/skills

The University Student Support website offers advice on a variety of matters (careers, counselling, student union advice, etc.) Students can also access these services by booking appointment with the SU, careers, counselling services, etc.

Course Specific Support

There are number of levels of support available for learning:

Each student will be allocated a personal tutor. Personal tutors maintain regular communication (virtual and/or face-to-face) with each of their designated tutees. Follow up meetings are arranged with students who are not making satisfactory progress or who are at risk of withdrawal. Personal tutors will assist the student in their personal and academic development, planning and progression. They will also help the student to liaise with other staff and support facilities in their school, the faculty and the University, including study skills support.

The course leader will monitor the academic and experiential quality of the course through Course Committee, focus groups and other channels. The course leader also supports and directs students proactively on the course, both collectively and individually, and will respond to inquiries and requests from students with regard to the academic programme of study.

The Faculty Enabling Tutor liaises with the Student Enabling Centre (SEC) regarding provision for specific disabled students and disseminates information from the SEC to staff. The Faculty Enabling Tutors also monitor requests for, and provision of, specific examination and assessment arrangements, publicise 'surgery' arrangements and make available time to meet with individual disabled students to enable them to discuss their own school-specific disability issues where necessary. The tutor takes a pro-active role in monitoring the welfare and academic progress of disabled students within the school.

In-class assessments are arranged by the module tutor. The module tutor will, where appropriate, ensure that arrangements are made for students requiring special consideration. These arrangements will apply to those students who have been identified as having special learning requirements.

Members of the Learning Centres are invited to speak to students about accessing printed and electronic resources and provide support for research. LIS also provide a number of electronic resources including podcasts, which can support distance learners in these areas. The 'skills for learning' skills support facility can be accessed electronically via www.wlv.ac.uk/lib/skills

Each module also provides an extensive reading list and suggestions for web-based and other electronic resources. The VLE system is widely used in all modules for a variety of pedagogical and more practical purposes relating to the dissemination of information and the submission of student work.

Employability in the Curriculum:

Teamwork is a key employability skill and is at the heart of effective management and organisational functioning. It is also a powerful learning strategy that is used throughout this course.

The overarching aim at each level is:

Level 4: Students will gain team-work experience from group presentations and group reports, and self-work experience from individual tests. This will contribute to their development of independent study skills.

Level 5: Formative and summative assessments are designed to develop the student's ability in terms of deepening knowledge and providing tactical solutions at an operational level.

Level 6: Formative and summative assessments are designed to develop the student's ability in terms of thinking strategically and making strategic business decisions based upon a detailed knowledge of accounting principles.
