Entry Requirements:

Entry requirements are subject to regular review. The entry requirements applicable to a particular academic year will be published on the University website (and externally as appropriate e.g. UCAS)

Distinctive Features of the Course:

Entrepreneurship and reflexive thinking skills are at the heart of this general business management programme. The course is designed to allow you to develop an awareness of modern business practice through practical activities which will equip you with an holistic understanding of how an organisation functions, and how the functional areas of a business work together to achieve organisational aims.

A practical and practice-based programme, this course will equip you with the agile, reflexive and critical thinking skills which are vital for success in modern organisations.

The course is based around four core pillars of digital business, sustainable business, innovative business and responsible business and you will explore the functional areas of business through these themes giving you an immersive experience which will result in a thorough understanding of the challenges and opportunities faced by organisations in the 21st century.

This is a dual award; on successful completion of Level 4 and 5 study at the University of Wolverhampton you will also be awarded the Chartered Management Institute Level 5 Diploma in Leadership and Management enhancing your employability.

Educational Aims of the Course:

This exciting and innovative general business programme is designed for students who want to embark on an in-depth study of Business and Management to develop analysis and evaluation skills that can be applied to real-world situations. Four pillars underpin this programme: innovation and enterprise, sustainability, responsibility and digital. You will explore the functional areas of business, such as management, marketing, human resources, finance and operations, through the lens of these four main themes which run throughout the programme.

Entrepreneurship is a key force for successful economic growth and entrepreneurial thinking is at the heart of this programme in which you will develop knowledge and understanding of a range of management and business practices and the ability to apply them effectively in an entrepreneurial and innovative manner.

Independent and transferable personal development skills are vital in business and you will have the opportunity to develop them through interactive learning activities and self-reflection to enable you to develop the professional skills required in the workplace. You will acquire core business skills through case studies, online activities and live projects, through interactions with entrepreneurs and business speakers, and through reflecting on your own practice.

The course aims to supply future managers and professionals to various business and management sectors as well as to provide key knowledge, skills and attributes that are vital to modern organisations. Potential graduate careers include personnel and human resource management, marketing and market research, business strategy and operations, small business management and start-up, business analytics, digital business and information management.

The Foundation Year (level 3) is designed to equip applicants who do not have the required qualifications to enter directly onto level 4, with a robust toolkit of the academic, digital and personal skills required for successful study in Higher Education and also with an understanding of, and insight to, the business discipline. Successful completion of the Foundation Year will allow progression onto level 4 of BA (Hons) Business Management.

Teaching, Learning and Assessment:

This is a blended learning course with supportive and structured learning activities on Canvas supported by weekly in-class activities.

The online materials and face-to-face components of the module are integrated into a complimentary learning experience, which is both engaging and relevant, and resources are also accessible online. You are provided with a road map for studying each module in the form of a Homepage on Canvas. Each Canvas Homepage sets expectations and includes an orientation to help you understand how to successfully navigate the different online components of the module and prepare for the face-to-face meetings.

The structure of each Canvas topic follows a standard Business School layout to ensure consistency and familiarity for students and to help you navigate the different modules you will be studying. The Canvas Pages are used to present learning inputs and related activities with a narrative flow; content is structured into bite-sized inputs and activities of no more than 10-15 minutes, inclusive of any Panopto recorded slides. Each module Canvas page features a balance between interactive activities and short lecture inputs.

Regular opportunities are built in for formative feedback in-class and online. For summative assessments on modules with more than one tutor a marking rubric is used to ensure consistency and you will receive summative feedback via Canvas within four working weeks of submission. Your feedback may be written, oral or audio-visual in nature.

Blended learning lends itself to enquiry-based learning – this puts less emphasis on the lecture method of teaching and more on empowering you to solve problems, evaluate situations, research topics or apply principles, which is more appropriate to business education. Face-to-face sessions are delivered in workshop mode with a set of task-based activities, which draw on the online content, and enable you to practically and critically explore the topic individually and in small groups.

Opportunities are built in for you to collaborate in peer-to-peer learning activities. This could include things such as small groups using a flipped learning approach, small group case study analysis, student-led assessment unpacking, group discussions, student-led seminars and problem-based learning.

The workshop and activity-based approach to learning enables multiple opportunities for formative feedback and self-diagnosis and testing to be built into the core content for each module, and there will be regular opportunities for you to engage in small group and one-to-one tutorials.

Inclusivity

The modules are developed with Universal Design in mind, and to meet all accessibility standards. For instance, downloadable transcripts will be provided for all the videos – these may be created by Panopto and then edited into a useable text or may be scripted by the author in advance of the recording. We will also ensure that there are adequate descriptions provided all of graphs, charts, images etc used in PowerPoint slides included in the transcripts. There will also be alternative text for all graphics used in page, and we will ensure that all documents, PDFs etc are formatted to best be used by screen readers.

Case studies, examples and resources are drawn from a wide range of business cultures and contexts representing our diverse and international community.

Assessment Methods:

At the University of Wolverhampton, a variety of modes of assessment will be used to support and test your learning and progress and to help you develop capabilities that are valued beyond your University studies and into your working life. Your course may include a variety of assessment activities:

Written examinations (including online examinations, open and closed book examinations and quizzes)
Coursework (for example, essays, reports, portfolios, project proposals and briefs, CVs, poster presentation)
Practical (for example, oral and video presentations, laboratory work, performances, practical skills assessment)

In the final year of your undergraduate degree, and at the end of your postgraduate degree, you are likely to be expected to write an extended piece of work or research, such as a dissertation or a practice-based piece of research.

Student Support:

General University support:

The University Library is the key source of academic information for students. The Library provides physical library resources (books, journal, DVDs etc.) and offers a range of study areas to allow you to study in the environment that suits you best: Social areas, quiet and silent areas. The Library also provides access to wide range of online information sources, including eBooks, e-Journals and subject databases.

The Library also provides students with academic skills support via the Skills for Learning programme. While on campus you can attend workshops or ask for one-to-one help on a range of skills such as academic writing and referencing. You can also access a range of online skills material at: www.wlv.ac.uk/lib/skills

The University Student Support website offers advice on a variety of matters (careers, counselling, student union advice, etc.) Students can also access these services by booking appointment with the SU, careers, counselling services, etc.

Course Specific Support

At Levels 3 and 4 you will be allocated an Academic Coach to help you to settle into University and make the most of your first year of study. For Level 5 and above, a personal tutor is allocated to you and they will maintain regular communication (virtual and/or face-to-face) with you to support you as you progress. Should you encounter any difficulties, follow-up meetings are arranged to ensure that you make satisfactory progress or are not at risk of withdrawal. Personal tutors can assist you in your personal and academic development, planning and progression, as well as offering you advice and guidance to help you liaise with other staff and support facilities in your school and the University, including study skills support.

The course leader will monitor the academic and experiential quality of the course through Award Boards, focus groups and other channels. The course leader also supports and directs you proactively on the course, both collectively and individually, and responds to enquiries with regard to your academic programme of study.

The Faculty Enabling Tutor liaises with Student Support and Wellbeing (SSW) regarding provision for specific disabled students & disseminates information from Student Support and Wellbeing on the needs of specific disabled students. The Faculty Enabling Tutors also monitor requests for, and provision of, specific examination and assessment arrangements, publicise 'surgery' arrangements and make available time to meet with individual disabled students to enable them to discuss their own school-specific disability issues where necessary. The tutor takes a pro-active role in monitoring the welfare and academic progress of disabled students within the school.

Where applicable, in-class semester assessments are arranged by the module tutor. The module tutor will, where appropriate, ensure that any arrangements made for students requiring special consideration will be checked by University Student Support and Wellbeing to ensure fairness and equality, and that the provisions of the University Equal Opportunities policy are met. These arrangements will apply to those students who have identified special learning requirements.

Employability in the Curriculum:

Enterprise and employability are at the heart of this practice-focused business management programme. You will engage in live projects, and problem-based learning, applying business concepts to a wide range of diverse work environments. Case studies drawn from a diverse and international range of businesses will aid understanding of the business context, while live projects will enable you to work first-hand with the challenges of a business. The ability to work on these live projects will also hone your team-working, networking and consultancy skills, while opportunities for virtual placements will enable you to get valuable first-hand experience.

Critical business skills are embedded in the programme from the beginning and you will engage in a number of activities aimed at developing the personal and professional skills required in modern organisations. The course culminates in a Professional Project in which you will bring together all the skills you have acquired throughout your studies to create a business artefact relevant to a modern business environment. This will not only enable you to consolidate your employability skills, but also to demonstrate them to potential employers.

Students will be encouraged to reflect on the abilities and skills acquired and to consider them in the context of a business. In their final year, students also have the opportunity to be mentored by a company director in our hugely successful Institute of Directors Mentoring Scheme.
