Entry Requirements:

Entry requirements are subject to regular review. The entry requirements applicable to a particular academic year will be published on the University website (and externally as appropriate e.g. UCAS)

GCSE English at grade C level or above (or equivalent) AND 220 UCAS points from 'A' levels or equivalent including a minimum of 180 points from two full 6-unit awards or one full 12-unit award. Entry to this course requires a DBS.

Distinctive Features of the Course:

- This course involves work and community placements at every level of study.
- The teaching team are from a range of professional backgrounds including education, health professions, social work and youth work and are all actively involved in research
- You can choose which age group you wish to focus on depending on your personal interests and career aspirations.
- This course has academic rigour and professional practice.

A placement can be undertaken anywhere; local, national or even, in some instances, international. During a placement, you will be doing similar work to a normal employee of the organisation giving you a unique insight into your chosen profession or sector, the opportunity to acquire crucial personal skills and also the opportunity to build a network of useful contacts. Many companies that employ graduates use placement programmes as a method of recruitment so you could be fast tracked into employment or onto one of their graduate schemes if you impress them.

The team at The Workplace constantly search for new placement opportunities but if you find an opportunity that interests you or you have been successful in securing one yourself, contact them for further information and support.

Educational Aims of the Course:

The Childhood and Family Studies and Sociology degree will develop your skills and knowledge required for a range of careers in the statutory and voluntary sectors; particularly social care, educational and community organisations working with children, young people and their families.

You will develop attributes to become an ethical and reflexive professional and explore issues around safeguarding and perspectives on family life. The programme provides you with the opportunity to understand the complexities of the world in which we live. Students are encouraged to apply their sociological knowledge to a range of key social issues and to understand the impact such issues have on children and families.

Work experience and community placements are an integral part of the course. These can be negotiated in a variety of settings such as schools, nurseries, community care centres, hospitals and other relevant settings. Such experiences will broaden your knowledge, deepen your appreciation of civic responsibility and enhance employment opportunities.

Teaching and learning is designed to support your digital literacy through use of a range of on-line tools, such as virtual learning environments and e-portfolios and you will be encouraged to share knowledge and be enterprising with your ideas. An international perspective is taken within the degree and you will also have the opportunity to learn about how other countries support children and their families in a range of settings.

Framework for Higher Education Qualifications – www.FHEQ.ac.uk

Equality Act 2010, These benchmarks state that the knowledge, skills associated with a UG degree should be delivered through a diverse and innovative range of methods that will reflect the diversity of learners needs. These acts have been considered by the development of a blended delivery approach involving both online and face-to –face teaching and learning. This will help to

- Ensure reasonable adjustments have taken place to ensure the inclusion of all learners
- Challenge barriers to learning, such as making the learning environment more accessible via the use of teaching web folio's using text, images and sound
- The inclusion of online forums or web quest tasks for students who may have difficulty in participating in discussions, asking questions or group activities in the classroom
- Provision of teaching materials online
- Tutorial support via module lecturers and personal tutor
- Assessments that encourage learners to review their learning, reflect on any difficulties they have encountered and strategies that were successful

The learning outcomes reflect the importance of diversity and equal opportunities and underpins the values of working as early years practitioners to critically consider the importance of anti-discriminatory practice

University Assessment Strategy – assessment strategies have been chosen to ensure that the full range of skills is developed.

Teaching, Learning and Assessment:

Learning will be face to face and on-line and will consist of the following:

- Lectures
- Seminars
- Tutorials
- Debates
- Small and large group work
- Discussion forums and wikis
- Student presentations
- Work- and community-based and learning through placements (to support employability skills)
- Research activities
- Independent and guided study
- Collaborative on-line tasks and activities

- Individual on-line tasks and activities
- Video and image analysis
- Case studies
- Role play

The on-line activities and electronic presentations the students will prepare will support their digital literacy.

The group tasks and seminars will support students' enterprising ideas.

The international perspectives to topics taken in lectures and learning tasks will support students' global citizenship.

Assessment Methods:

At the University of Wolverhampton, a variety of modes of assessment will be used to support and test your learning and progress and to help you develop capabilities that are valued beyond your University studies and into your working life. Your course may include a variety of assessment activities:

Written examinations (including online examinations, open and closed book examinations and quizzes)
 Coursework (for example, essays, reports, portfolios, project proposals and briefs, CVs, poster presentation)
 Practical (for example, oral and video presentations, laboratory work, performances, practical skills assessment)

In the final year of your undergraduate degree, and at the end of your postgraduate degree, you are likely to be expected to write an extended piece of work or research, such as a dissertation or a practice-based piece of research.

Student Support:

For all semester based modules there will be 3 hours face to face sessions per week and then an additional 1hr either face to face or on-line activities to support learning (e.g. via seminars or small group tasks).

Study skills (such as using Harvard referencing and writing for academic purposes) are embedded in some modules at level 4 and extended at levels 5 and 6. Also LSSC provides specialist academic study skills sessions and individual support. This is available to all students at all levels.

Students will receive feedback informally throughout the modules and formally through written feedback for their formative and summative assignments. This feedback will be constructive and indicate to students how to progress in their learning.

Students will be supported throughout their professional practice/ community link or sociology project report by an allocated academic supervisor.

All students will have a personal tutor to support their progress through the course.

The learning centre provides learning support and resources. Many books and journals are also available electronically for the students to access to support their learning.

There is also a Faculty Enabling Tutor for students who feel they have a special or additional need that may affect their learning, achievement or inclusion in University life.

The Childhood, Family and Community department also provides an academic member of staff who offers academic support sessions; the opportunity to work alongside and talk through issues and concerns that students may wish to focus on to improve their academic skills further.

Employability in the Curriculum:

- You may go into teaching, lecturing or research in the field of and childhood, youth, family and community Studies or Sociology
- There is a range of options in community care, family support, play work, young people, nursery management, children's charities or work within initiatives such as Sure Start.
- If you want to become a teacher you may choose to undertake a Postgraduate Certificate in Education (PGCE)
- You could also choose to apply for a Master's Degree in Sociology; Social Work or Education or you could gain further qualifications as a play therapist or youth counsellor/worker

The completion of a Sandwich Year will enable you to gain valuable hands on experience in a relevant work environment. This will not only provide additional practical subject skills but it will also develop personal transferable skills such as communication skills, problem solving skills and demonstrate competency in working with other people. This will increase your employability and assist you in gaining employment in the future.
