However, it is expected that some applicants will be mature students with work experience, who wish to further their career development. These applicants will be processed through standard procedures, which may involve an interview as part of the process.

Entry to this course requires a Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) Check.

Those who do not meet the entry requirements may be offered an alternative course.

Distinctive Features of the Course:

The Marketing, Innovation, Leisure and Enterprise (MiLE) department has strong reputations in the subject discipline of event and venue management, based on a combination of the industry expertise and experience of MiLE department staff who have delivered a number of consultancy projects on behalf of organisations such as The NEC Group, further demonstrating our expertise around the management of venues. Courses are informed and endorsed by our research, publications, and engagement with professional bodies such as the Association for Events Management Education (AEME) and Chartered Institute of Marketing (CIM).

The University is an Institute of Travel and Tourism (ITT) Centre of Excellence which recognises leading universities who working particularly closely with the Institute to develop and maintain high professional standards throughout the travel and tourism industry. The University receives support in organising industrial placements, access to high level industry speakers, access to senior industry figures for research purposes and will grant an annual ITT Centre of Excellence Student of the Year award to a student identified by the university.

Our relationship with university venues: The Arena Theatre and The Performance Hub provide an alternative classroom which you will access as part of your course. Learning with us, you will engage with industry through application of learning to live events, field trips and guest lecturers. These resources and developments place MiLE in a very strong position to provide both practical experiences which underpin theoretical understanding and prepare you for the challenges of working in the dynamic event marketing environment.

Whilst studying with us in our new business school at the Wolverhampton Campus, you will learn about the global marketplace within which event venues operate, gain a working understanding of digital technologies, and develop entrepreneurship and business marketing skills that will help you to plan, organise, and deliver events.

A placement can be undertaken anywhere; local, national or even, in some instances, international. During a placement, you will be doing similar work to a normal employee of the organisation giving you a unique insight into your chosen profession or sector, the opportunity to acquire crucial personal skills and also the opportunity to build a network of useful contacts. Many companies that employ graduates use placement programmes as a method of recruitment so you could be fast tracked into employment or onto one of their graduate schemes if you impress them.

The team at The Workplace constantly search for new placement opportunities but if you find an opportunity that interests you or you have been successful in securing one yourself, contact them for further information and support.

Educational Aims of the Course:

The BA (Hons) Event and Venue Management course is a popular choice for students wishing to gain employment in this exciting and rapidly expanding industry, for starting your own events business and for event professionals looking to enhance their career prospects.

The course equips you with an events management portfolio of knowledge and skills so that you can consider the diverse work opportunities available in the events industry regionally, nationally and internationally. Whilst studying with us, you learn about the dynamic global marketplace within which events venues operate, gain a working understanding of digital technologies and develop management, business and entrepreneurship skills that will help you to plan, organise and stage events.

Assessment Methods:

At the University of Wolverhampton, a variety of modes of assessment will be used to support and test your learning and progress and to help you develop capabilities that are valued beyond your University studies and into your working life. Your course may include a variety of assessment activities:

Written examinations (including online examinations, open and closed book examinations and quizzes)
Coursework (for example, essays, reports, portfolios, project proposals and briefs, CVs, poster presentation)
Practical (for example, oral and video presentations, laboratory work, performances, practical skills assessment)

In the final year of your undergraduate degree, and at the end of your postgraduate degree, you are likely to be expected to write an extended piece of work or research, such as a dissertation or a practice-based piece of research.

Student Support:

A core strand through this course is the development of skills appropriate to both general study at HE and for lifelong learning, and specific study in a chosen specialist subject. In some modules the development of these skills are explicit in others they are embedded within the curriculum. Students will be able to access the learning services of the University of Wolverhampton.

For example:

- The University Counselling Service offers short courses on topics such as "Self Confidence", "Stress Management and Relaxation" and "Life Skills". They also provide study skills and academic support, providing short courses such as provide help in areas such as "Writing and Assignment Skills", "Exam Techniques", "Enhancing Professional Skills", "Personal Development Planning" and "Making Choices for the Future".
- University Learning Centres provide general academic skills support to all students. Individual appointments are available with a study skills advisor. They can offer advice on areas such as, academic writing, assignment planning, exam preparation, and time management. In addition, there is a regular timetable of drop-in and bookable workshops covering information and digital literacy skills, including academic referencing.
- The International Centre will be able to provide more generic international advice and guidance for example visa's. In addition, the Centre will be able to provide regulatory guidance and any such other support to signpost students to enhance their learning.

You will receive support and guidance from personal tutors, so that you: can understand better your learning process, have the skills and understanding to act on the feedback, so as to become more effective and successful, collect evidence on your achievement to enhance your employability.

Feedback - tutors provide personalised written feedback following all summative assessments. The mechanism for feedback from formative tasks varies between assessments, but will always be provided in some form. On occasions tutors may provide generalised verbal feedback to the whole group on points relating to an assessment. You may also be asked to give feedback to your peers and to your tutors.

Employability in the Curriculum:

A degree in Event and Venue Management will prepare you for career opportunities in the global events sector where you will be able to use a portfolio of events expertise and skills to inform the management of events and venues. Upon graduation students can expect to enter a number of roles in the events sector: public, private or voluntary, gain career progression or set up their own events business. Opportunities can be found in a diversity of venues worldwide from management of venues and stadia, conferencing in hotels to staging corporate, local authority or charity events, arts and music festivals, or business start-up such as Wedding planning. Graduates of this award may also progress to our Events postgraduate programmes.

The completion of a Sandwich Year will enable you to gain valuable hands on experience in a relevant work environment. This will not only provide additional practical subject skills but it will also develop personal transferable skills such as communication skills, problem solving skills and demonstrate competency in working with other people. This will increase your employability and assist you in gaining employment in the future.
