Distinctive Features of the Course:

Sociology and Politics at Wolverhampton offers modules which deal with theoretical and conceptual material which can be practically applied and tested through the opportunity to do placement and volunteering modules, thus providing a stimulating mixture of the theoretical, conceptual, practical and applied learning.

This course encourages Community-based learning through placements in not-for-profit agencies and organisations. These modules are embedded in the course and are an accredited part of the student learning experience. The Sociology Department at Wolverhampton are pioneers of accredited volunteering in the UK. Students benefit from staff expertise in this area and the provision greatly enhances graduate employability.

A placement can be undertaken anywhere; local, national or even, in some instances, international. During a placement, you will be doing similar work to a normal employee of the organisation giving you a unique insight into your chosen profession or sector, the opportunity to acquire crucial personal skills and also the opportunity to build a network of useful contacts. Many companies that employ graduates use placement programmes as a method of recruitment so you could be fast tracked into employment or onto one of their graduate schemes if you impress them.

The team at The Workplace constantly search for new placement opportunities but if you find an opportunity that interests you or you have been successful in securing one yourself, contact them for further information and support.

Educational Aims of the Course:

The Sociology and Politics degree gives students the opportunity to analyse and understand the major political and sociological traditions through which we can make sense of the modern world. This degree also focuses upon the debates concerning developments around economic, political and cultural globalisation.

Students are encouraged to apply their sociological and political knowledge to a range of key contemporary issues, and to understand the impact such issues have upon institutional arrangements, cultural systems, governance and citizenship in a national and international context.

At each level of study you are given the opportunity to undertake accredited voluntary work in the local community – an experience that broadens your academic knowledge, deepens your appreciation of civic responsibility and enhances your opportunities for graduate employment.

Teaching and learning are designed to support digital literacy. Students will acquire the skills necessary to gather evidence, apply theory and mobilise argument in relation to a wide range of social and political issues. Students are encouraged to share knowledge and be enterprising with their ideas. Global comparative perspectives are incorporated into the degree, providing students with the opportunity to learn about society and politics in other countries.

This feedback will be constructive and indicate to students how to progress in their learning. Module tutors are also available for one-to-one discussions of their work.

Students will be supported through their Project, Community Link or Work Placement by an allocated academic supervisor.

All students will have a personal tutor to support their progress throughout their course. Tutors are regularly available to meet with students to discuss any issues they wish to raise and to map their progress.

The Academic Support Tutors within SSHIPs provided additional specialised learning support for students on an individual basis.
