Teaching, Learning and Assessment:

Learning activities on this course will include:

- Lectures
- Seminar discussion
- Practical sessions
- Workshops
- Work-based learning
- Tutorial support
- Independent reading of core and supplementary material from books, journals and electronic sources
- Independent practical study
- Canvas (VLE) structured on-line tasks and independent study
- Peer teaching
- Problem solving, reflection and decision making
- Assessment preparation workshops

Assessment has a focus on real-world skills that will be required in the industry. There is therefore an emphasis on portfolios, reports, presentations and coursework, rather than exams and essays. Level 4 introduces you to the sport industry landscape, career routes, and basic research skills. Level 4 assessment will be contemporary so that you develop your understanding of issues which are relevant to the industry. For example, in Sport Media and Marketing you will be given an 'issue' and be required to produce a piece of marketing material (e.g. poster, small video suitable for social media, leaflet) and to justify some of the key decisions made in producing the material.

At Level 5 and 6 you will then put your learning from Level 4 into practice in modules with real-world links to help build up an evidence base of skills and experiences to draw upon as you prepare for employment. Assessment on certain modules has been designed to allow you to select an area which relates to your interest, graduate destination or your community/real world interests. For example, the Level 5 research proposal and final year project allow you to select your own topic area (provided it links to staff expertise in the department) and to choose from a range of project submission formats.

For some assessments you will present ideas to those in industry, promoting the development of real world skills and networking opportunities throughout.

Assessment methods on this course will include:

- Practical
- Presentation
- Research
- Portfolio
- Report
- Coursework
- Project

Assessment Methods:

At the University of Wolverhampton, a variety of modes of assessment will be used to support and test your learning and progress and to help you develop capabilities that are valued beyond your University studies and into your working life. Your course may include a variety of assessment activities:

Written examinations (including online examinations, open and closed book examinations and quizzes)

Coursework (for example, essays, reports, portfolios, project proposals and briefs, CVs, poster presentation)

Practical (for example, oral and video presentations, laboratory work, performances, practical skills assessment)

In the final year of your undergraduate degree, and at the end of your postgraduate degree, you are likely to be expected to write an extended piece of work or research, such as a dissertation or a practice-based piece of research.
